

German Shepherd Dog Club Of Victoria

GSD Exhibition

14th August 2022

Mr Andrew O'Loughlin (SA)

I'd like to start by thanking the German Shepherd Dog Club of Victoria for the appointment, and allowing me to do my 3rd exam for the GSDCA Specialist Judges License. Thank you for the hospitality, friendly people and looking after me.

The weather conditions for the day were not ideal; it was windy, cold and wet. Using the same ring as the previous day meant that the area the handlers were working in started to get quite muddy and slippery by the end of the day; something I was conscious of as we finished and asked the handlers in Open Dog Stock Coat to run inside the cones to avoid any injuries.

There were 88 animals entered, with 60 animals being exhibited. Of those animals exhibited, one animal wasn't able to be measured and was allowed to withdraw from the competition with judge's permission, otherwise they would have had to be ungraded. One baby bitch stock coat was graded promising, as she was not confident in herself. The weather conditions may have contributed to this, but I would like to see her confidence improve overall. One male measured oversize and was dropped a grading because of this.

Overall, I thought the quality of animals presented was very good. While I noted a number of animals could be firmer in both the hocks and elbows, very minimal animals exhibited presented very loose hocks. There are still a number of animals being presented with too much hindquarter angulation (even if it is only just slightly deep); while I don't believe this is as big a problem here in Australia as it may be overseas, this is definitely something we need to keep our eyes on to make sure we don't let the situation get out of hand. I believe the majority of animals presented had a restriction of some sort in the forehead; this is very much something we need to aim to improve, and will also help balance the more angulated hindquarters.

Most animals had very good eye colour, with only one or two animals needing a slightly darker eye. It was also very pleasing to not note many peaks in the toplines of animals, or dips behind the wither. An area that I think is of concern at the moment is length of tails. A lot of tails are now getting too long; it was particularly noticeable in the minor puppy bitch stock coat class, where all bitches had long tails. Another area of concern for me is ears. While something that is sometimes seen as cosmetic, if the ears are not correct, the characteristic expression of the German Shepherd Dog is lost. There were some ears that needed to be firmer and/or tipping back, some set too high, some too large and some forward placed. Another more cosmetic area of concern for me was dentition. While not noted on critiques, there were some animals presented with small p1s, and even p2s. A number of animals were also presented with dirty teeth and/or tartar. While this may not be of concern to some, if left untreated it may lead to dental problems later in life. I would suggest it worth exhibitors checking their animals teeth regularly, or at least a couple of weeks before in the lead up to shows.

Notable animals for me were my 4 Open winners, along with Junior Bitch Long Stock Coat and Baby Bitch Stock Coat winners. These 6 animals for me displayed very good construction, very good balanced movement and an overall impressive image.

Interestingly, of the 60 animals exhibited 57 animals were bred in Australia or New Zealand. Those 57 animals were sired by 31 different dogs! Notable sires were Chili Valcuvia with 7 animals exhibited and 2 class wins, Obama Montgison with 6 animals exhibited and 1 class win and Wulkano-Uno Schnitzenteam with 6 animals exhibited and 3 class wins. Notable Dam lines for me came from the kennels of Bronacre, Bronboreo and Stobar. Also noteworthy is Bluemax Salted Pretzel, who produced 2nd and 3rd place Open Bitch Stock Coat from 2 different litters and sires.
